It is estimated the Austrian losses total more than 200,000 men, but military critics say there is much to show that Emperor Karl's army is still a fighting force to be reckoned with and that its demoralization was only while crossing the Piave. Italy has 3,500,000 soldiers. Italy has asked for five divisions of Americans and the necessary supplies. Italy promises, if given the necessary reinforcements and supplies, to cross the Alps and invade Austria. Take a chance.

TO THE MOONLIGHT SCHOOL TEACHERS

You will get your Moonlight School supplies August 10, at the Reading Circle. Schools will begin that night wherever possible. Those who find it inconvenient to begin at that time will begin Monday night August 12th. This applies to white schools only. The Moonlight Schools for the colored people will begin on Monday night following the colored Teachers' Institute. I hope that each teacher will make a personal canvass of the illiterates of her district previous to the opening of the Moonlight Schools. I further hope that no teacher will attempt to teach a Moonlight School who does not have the work at heart, for nothing can be accomplished in a heartless or half-hearted way. The hardest part of the battle will be with our own minds. The moment we decide that we are determined to do a thing, the battle is won. Of course, we will have many obstacles and discouragements, but we must be prepared to face them bravely. Our lines may bend, defeat, no doubt, will stare us in the face, but if we are armed with patience and determination, God being our helper, a most glorious victory will crown our efforts.

President Wilson said: "We are fighting to make the world safe for democracy." Let us make democracy safe back at home! The two greatest foes to the democracy of the world are Prussianism and Ignorance. The fight is now on against both. The winning of the war against Prussianism will not remove all the perils of democracy; for a democracy is not safe in the hands of the ignorant citizenship.

According to the 1910 census, there were 208,084 men and women in Kentucky alone who could not read and write. Yes, some of them are in Montgomery county. The same census tells us that Montgomery county has 1,393 who can not read and write. On June 5, 1917, 30,000 Kentucky boys signed their registration cards by mark. Ninety-four of our boys from Montgomery county are included in that number. Of this number we have already sent 26 to the army.

How does this handicap them?

1. They cannot sign their names.
2. They cannot read their orders posted daily on bulletin boards in camp.
3. They cannot read their Bibles.
4. They cannot read their manual of arms.
5. They cannot read their letters nor write home.
6. They cannot fully understand the cause for which they are fighting, nor the principles for which our government stands.
7. They cannot understand the signals nor follow the signal corps in time of battle.

Army officers tell us that it retards a soldier three months in his preparation. It is such a handicap that the Navy will not receive boys who cannot read and write. The Army would not until recently.

Our Class 1 boys who cannot read and write, are at present being taught by carefully selected and competent citizens in their respective communities. I have talked with all these teachers and most of the boys, and I wish to say that they are very much enthused over their work. The boys receive lessons each night at the home of these noble citizens. One boy told me yesterday that he was going to study hard for he wanted to be able to read his letters and write home to his father and mother. All the other boys are equally as anxious to learn.

If the war lasts much longer, the re-classifications, and changes in the draft age will make many more of these boys subject to call. Are we going to lay down on our patriotic duties and allow these boys to go to the army untaught? Are we going to allow their fathers, mothers, and friends to go untaught? I say no! A thousand times no! The citizens and teachers of this country have never been slackers in the great struggles for the preservation of the principles for which our forefathers fought, bled, and died. Then let us press forward with a greater determination than ever before: To wipe Prussianism from the face of the earth.

To teach every adult illiterate to read and write, and so create such an interest in our day schools that no more illiterates shall be allowed to grow.

Not until these shall have been accomplished, can we safely say that government of the people, for the people, and by the people shall not perish from the earth.

H. R. RILEY,

County Agent, Literacy Commission.

BRACKEN ASSOCIATION

Messengers from the Mt. Sterling Church to the Bracken Association of Baptists, which meets with the church at Lewisburg, Wednesday the 7th, are Rev. J. S. Wilson, Rev. T. Benton Hill, J. C. Graves, Dr. W. R. Thompson, J. W. Hedden, Sr., and John H. Blount. The church societies will be represented by Mrs. J. S. Wilson, Mrs. T. Benton Hill, Mrs. S. B. Carrington, Miss Anise Hunt, Miss Lucy Smith, Mrs. B. F. Thomson and W. L. Killpatrick. At this meeting a letter of dismissal from this association will be requested by the local church, in order that they may unite with the Boones' Creek Association. The reason for the change is the Boones' Creek Association in interim meets at Winchester, and the Bracken at Lewisburg, would therefore be more convenient and a saving in expenses as well.

WAR PROFIT TAX

A war profit tax, separate from all other taxes, will be pressed with renewed vigor in the House Ways and Means Committee this week. The measure is aimed to reach all war profiteers and is strengthened by the stand of President Wilson on the subject. All plans to raise $6,000,000,000 from excess profits and income taxes thus far have fallen short of the required amount.
